

Mary S. Palmer

EDUCATION

BA (Cum Laude) in English and an MA in English with a Concentration in Creative Writing from the University of South Alabama. MA thesis: Keep on Keeping on: The Story of George Wallace

PUBLISHED WORKS

TIME WAS—third installment in the Time Will Tell trilogy (Musa Publishing 2015)
Question of Time— second installment in the Time Will Tell trilogy (Musa Publishing 2014)

Chance for Redemption—fantasy novella (Westbow Press 2013)

BAITING THE HOOK, the sequel of To Catch a Fish (Musa Publishing 2012)

To Catch a Fish e-book (Musa Publishing 2012)

Time Will Tell e-book (Musa Publishing 2012)

To Catch a Fish (2010) Co-author David V. Wilton

Quest for Forgiveness (2009) Co-author James McEnergy

False Gods (2006) Co-author Elizabeth T. Coffman, Ph.D.

The Callings (2003) Co-author Loretta Theriot

MemoraMOBILEia: Alabama Gulf Coast Potpourri (1993) Co-author Elizabeth Coffman, Ph.D.

“Maggie O’Hara” in Mobile Bay Tales, edited by Tom Franklin, author of Hell at the Breech

Poetry in several books and other publications

“Dimes and Quarters” in Collected Words from Writers of the Southern Coast

EMPLOYMENT

Currently teaching English at Faulkner State Community College, Faulkner University and Huntingdon College. Previously taught at Spring Hill College in Mobile, AL.

HONORS & AWARDS

First Place, 2014 Southeastern Literary Initiative Tourism Writing Award Cosponsored with the Alabama Tourism Department

Third Place, 2011 Essay Dimes and Quarters Baldwin Writers Group Contest

Third Place, 2005 Screenplay Joe and Jo The Eugene Walter Writer’s Fest with the Department of English of the University of South Alabama

Member of the Baldwin Writers Group and the Six Censorians critique group.

Selected for Marquis’ Who’s Who Among America’s Teachers in 2002 and in 2005 also for Who’s Who in America (2005)